

Your vision of the world will be changed forever.

The Hammond Atlas of the World is the flagship of a new generation. This atlas is the first produced entirely from a computer base. This remarkably comprehensive reference is the result of a 5-year (150 man years) dedicated effort that brought together world-class talents in digital technology, mathematics, and graphic design to redefine the art of cartography.

The three main sections of the Atlas put the world at your fingertips. "Global Relationships" reveals the complex interrelationships between people and their environment. "Terra Scape™ Maps" present 16 pages of incredibly accurate and richly detailed, 3-dimensional renderings so vivid you'll feel as if you were flying overhead. And the 160-page "Collection of World Maps" offers dramatic new perspectives. The special continent maps are more than twice as accurate as those found in any other world atlas. And, the superb new reference section incorporates the final 1990 U.S. Census results.

The Hammond Atlas of the World. The atlas for our time.
